

Bethan Winn is Perth's leading Critical Thinking facilitator. A multi-faceted educator with 15+ years experience, she delivers training, consulting and coaching services on critical thinking, decision making, problem solving and communication to SMEs, corporates, government and individuals.

Bethan is passionate about sharing critical and creative thinking skills in interactive, relatable formats and facilitating in ways to encourage these skills in professional, personal and academic contexts.

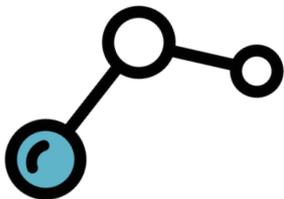

All solutions aim to engage, using interactive activities and relatable examples; educate on skills and knowledge and empower through practical application and confidence building to get the results you want.

Interactive talks, facilitation and training topics include:

Critical Thinking:

Practical application in business, personal and academic contexts.

Strategic facilitation

Supporting boards and teams to get clarity, make decisions and find direction.

Decision making:

Tools to develop judgement and build confidence to act.

Effective communication:

Building rapport, difficult conversations and delivering your message with influence.

Productivity and prioritisation:

Habits of mind and behaviour change to help you achieve your goals.

Problem solving:

Creative and lateral thinking to help you find solutions.

Learning design and delivery:

Helping you deliver your content or outcomes effectively.

How it works:

RECENT CLIENTS

Public Sector
Commission

engaging education
connect · engage · aspire

TOWN TEAM MOVEMENT

Curtin University

DRY / KIRKNESS

WESLEY COLLEGE
By daring & by doing

Perth BUSINESS NETWORK

BUSINESS STATION

Western Australian
Leaders
North Metro

Atlas
Professionals

COUNTRY WIDE
INSURANCE BROKERS

Average of 9.2/10 for value & enjoyment

in anonymous feedback across all sessions.

Participants report feeling inspired, empowered and better equipped for challenging situations.

Confident decision making and holistic problem solving.

95% of participants report feeling more confident in their professional or personal decisions.

Awareness of cognitive biases helps you understand yourself and others better.

This leads to better working relationships, which fosters trust, creativity, collaboration, and boosts productivity.

Save money by avoiding costly decisions that don't align with your purpose and values.

Poor decisions and indecision cost organisations billions of dollars each year.

“

What people have said:

"Fantastic - insightful and thought provoking. It was an engaging and dynamic presentation packed with so much value."

Duc Pham, Perth Business Network

"Wonderful session, great presenter, could not recommend it more"

Participant feedback, Dry Kirkness Chartered Accountants in-house session.

"The format of the training was brilliant and the way that content should be delivered. I have even bought one of the recommended books and am enjoying learning more about the topic. It's always a good sign when you go to a workshop that you want to extend your learning!"

Alison Barker, Industry Programs, Curtin University

"Playful and interactive, really helped the new information sink in. A great reminder to bring objectivity to my work"

Katie McDonald, Business News

"Bethan had a lovely energy, clearly really cared about what she was teaching and engaged a range of different learning styles. (Auditory, visual, kinetic). The content was really valuable. I'll apply this learning at work and at home"

Participant feedback, Public Sector Commission training.

"Bethan is an energetic and engaging learning facilitator. Her practical approach to developing critical thinking, decision making and problem solving skills has been highly beneficial for our participants to enhance their individual and collective capability to create positive social change

Lauren Robertson, John Curtin Leadership Academy, Curtin University.

"Bethan's workshop is most enjoyable. The time spent will repay 100 fold in the clear thinking and decision making."

Michael Green, Collaborative Design Architectural Studio.

”

For further information, comments or questions, get in touch today:

0450165130

hello@bethanwinn.com

<https://www.linkedin.com/in/bethanwinn/>

www.bethanwinn.com